

Special Foreign Language Book Sale at Chatham Community Library

Saturday, 26 January 2019
9:00am until 4:00pm
One Day Only!
Holmes Family Meeting Room
Chatham Community Library
197 NC Hwy 87 N
Pittsboro, NC 27312

The Friends of the Chatham Community Library will hold a special sale featuring a collection of foreign language books donated from the personal library of a retired university librarian who specialized in Latin American, Iberian, and Classic Romance Languages. More than 1000 books, mostly in Spanish, Portuguese, Italian, French, Latin and Greek will be offered. Some other languages are included in smaller quantities, as well as some books in English related to the languages and countries represented. Included are classics, novels, histories, dictionaries, parallel language books, textbooks, phrasebooks, travel guides and teaching materials for all levels.

"This is a great collection for anyone interested in foreign languages," said Reece Jones, a member of the Friends of the Library book sale team. "The librarian who donated these books devoted many years and much expertise to collecting them. We decided to highlight these books in a special one-day sale to give those interested in foreign languages greatest access to them."

Hard cover books will be $3 or less; soft cover $2 or less.
